

1251

Mongke was enthroned at a KURULTAI in 1251. Even as the nobles celebrated SHIREMUN and his supporters approached the ceremonial tent with arms, only to be discovered at the last minute and arrested.

Mongke exiled SHIREMUN to China, where he was later executed, and claimed the far corners of the empire with the blood of suspect Cousins and their collaborators. Some were Choked as their mouths were stuffed with stones, and GUYUK's widow was sewn in a Carpet & Crowned

Mongke consolidated his grip on power by cloaking himself in Genghis Khan's mantle Genghis Khan was Mongke's grandfather